TCU oversees

- Public Concessions
- Contract execution
- Regulator's performance

Focusing on

- Regularity
- Transparency
- Improvement

Aiming at improve the agency's results

- Continuously
- Technically
- Independently
- Effectively

REGULATORY AGENCIES

The monitoring of Concession contracts is the responsibility of the regulatory agencies.

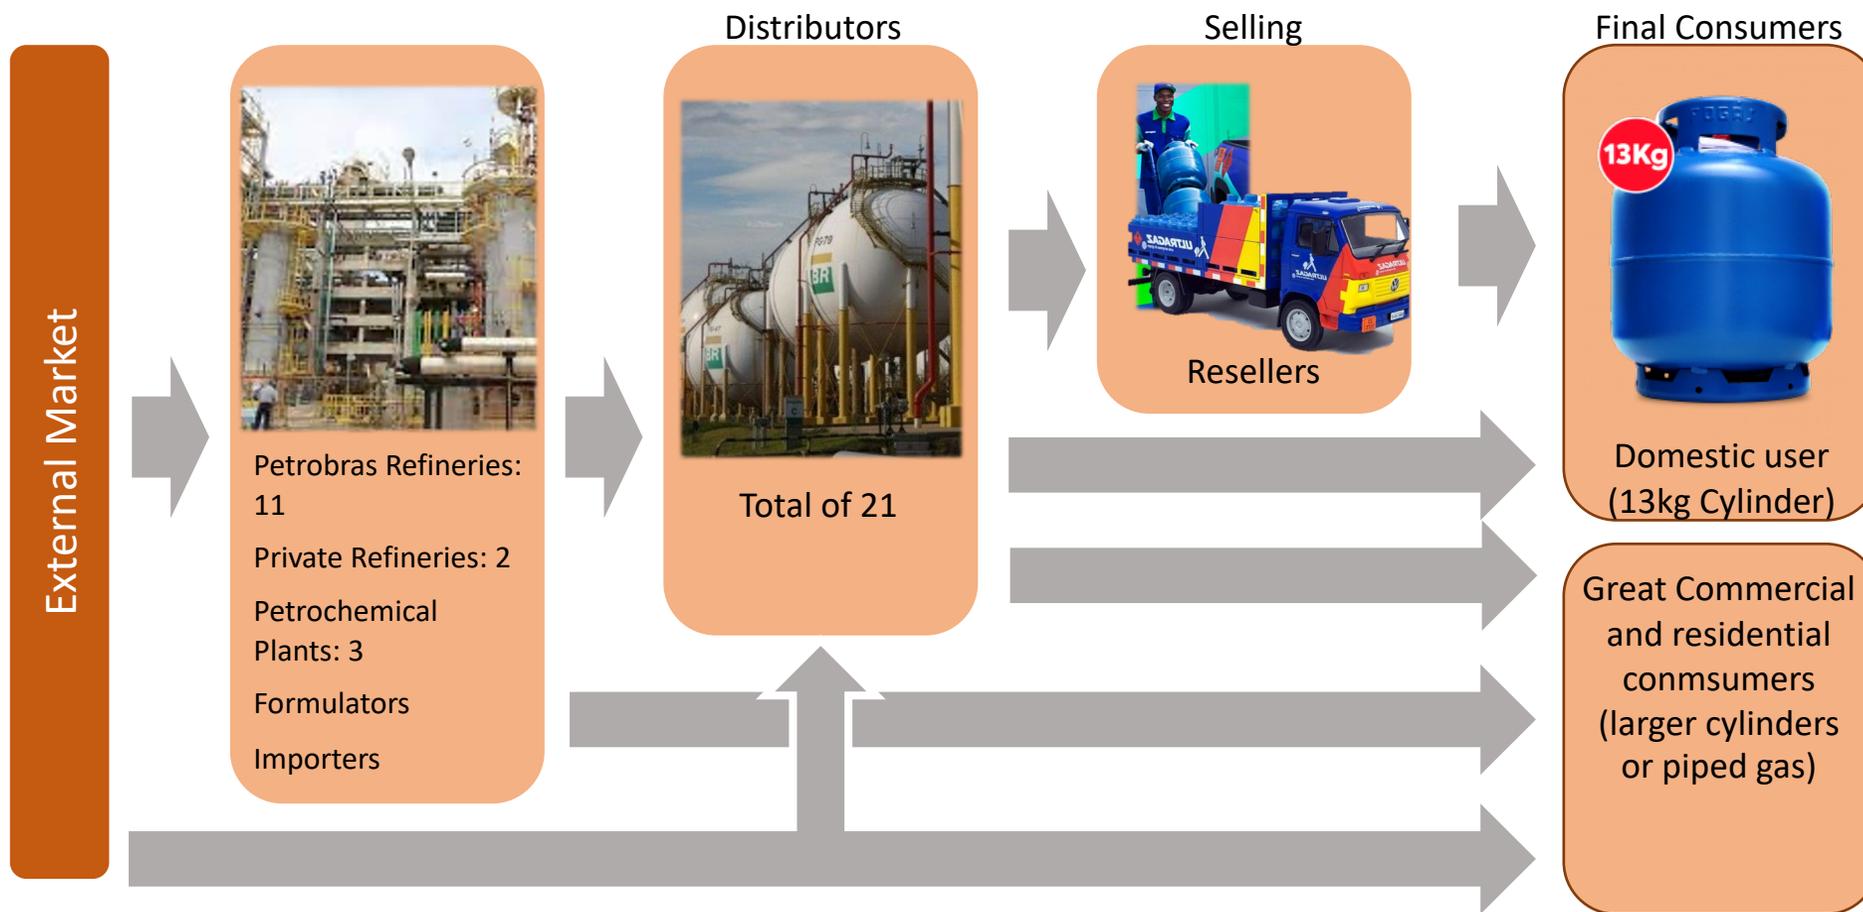

Brazil's Federal Court of Accounts has the responsibility of auditing the agency's operation – it does not regulate the market

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL CONTROL - OIL AND GAS INFRASTRUCTURE

LPG AUDIT - 2014

LPG BRAZIL

ANP'S ROLE LPG MARKET

anp
Agência Nacional
do Petróleo,
Gás Natural e Biocombustíveis

- Establishes ordinances and resolutions
- Exercises supervision
- Sanctioning power

TCU

Audit focused on

How ANP conducts its supervision and regulation

- Reliability of information
- Public policy of subsidized 13kg cylinder
- Sanctioning power usage

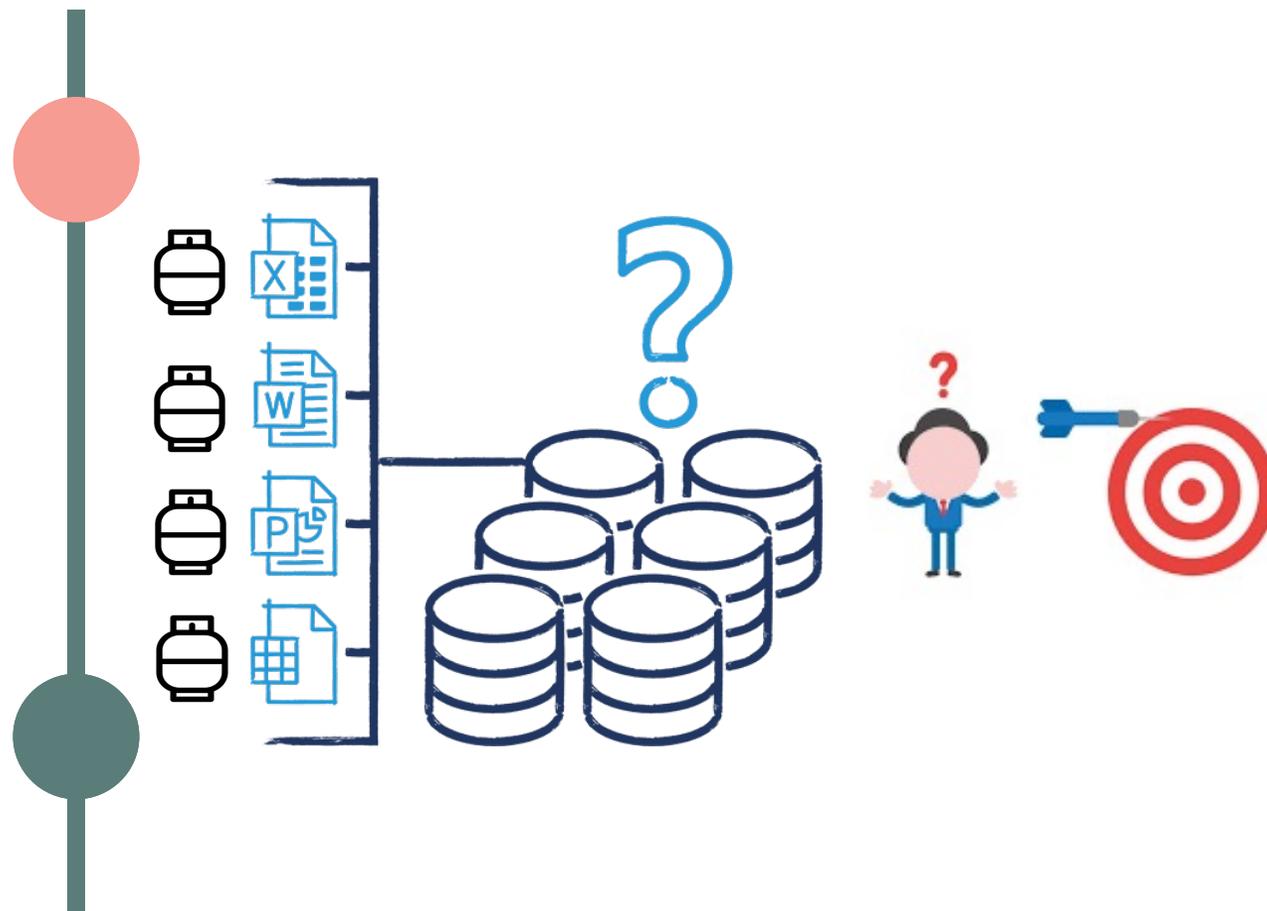

ANP

Has no means of knowing:

- Number of cylinders in circulation
- Quality of cylinders in circulation
- Safety of cylinders in circulation
- Compliance needs are being met

Information Asymmetry

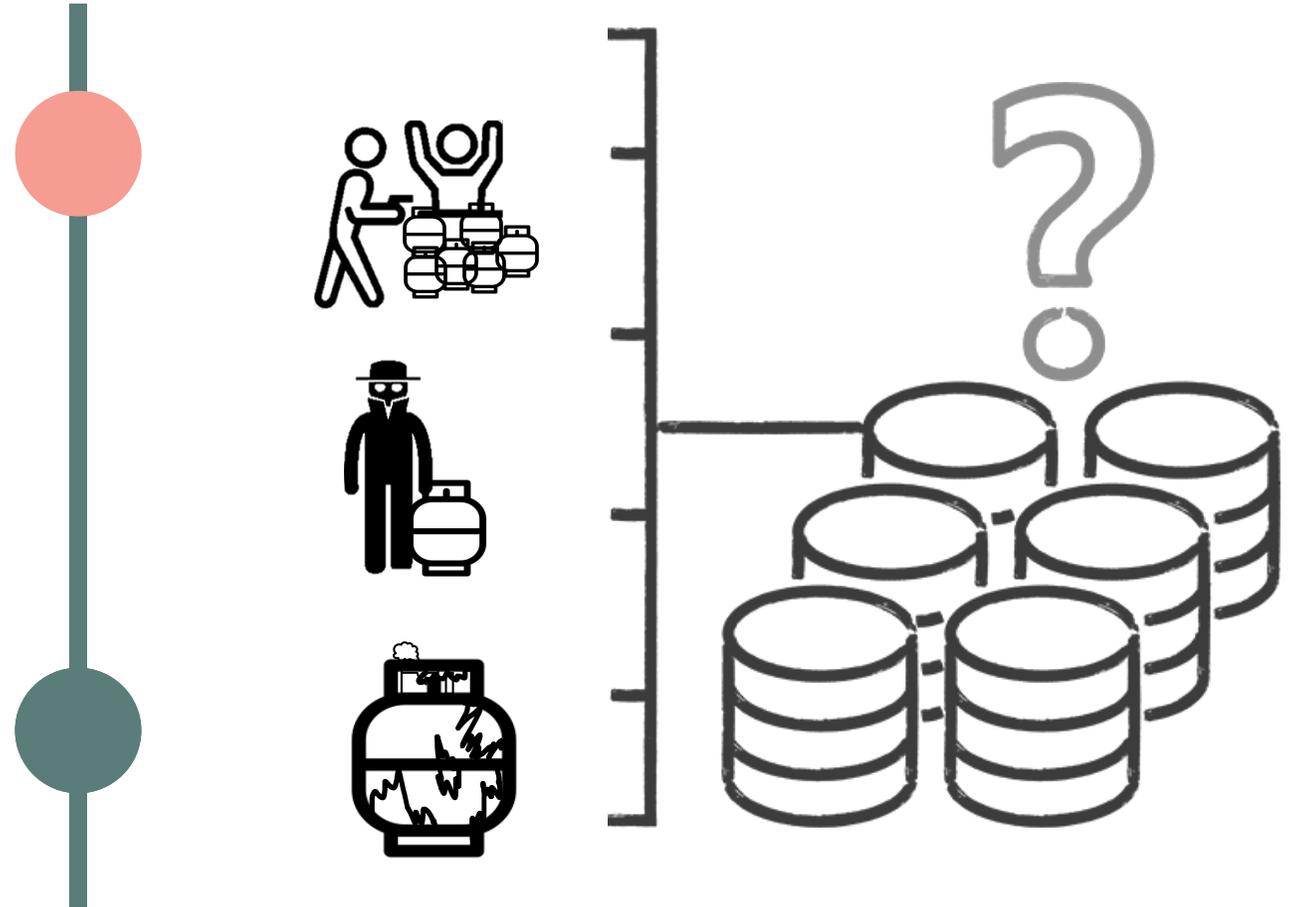

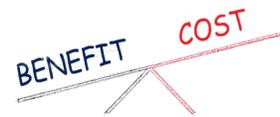

TCU recommended ANP to assess alternatives for regularly validating da data received.

ANP

Has no means of tracking LPG cylinders:

- Illegal resale
- Theft of cylinders
- Sales out of compliance

Regulatory alternative studies without cost-benefit analysis

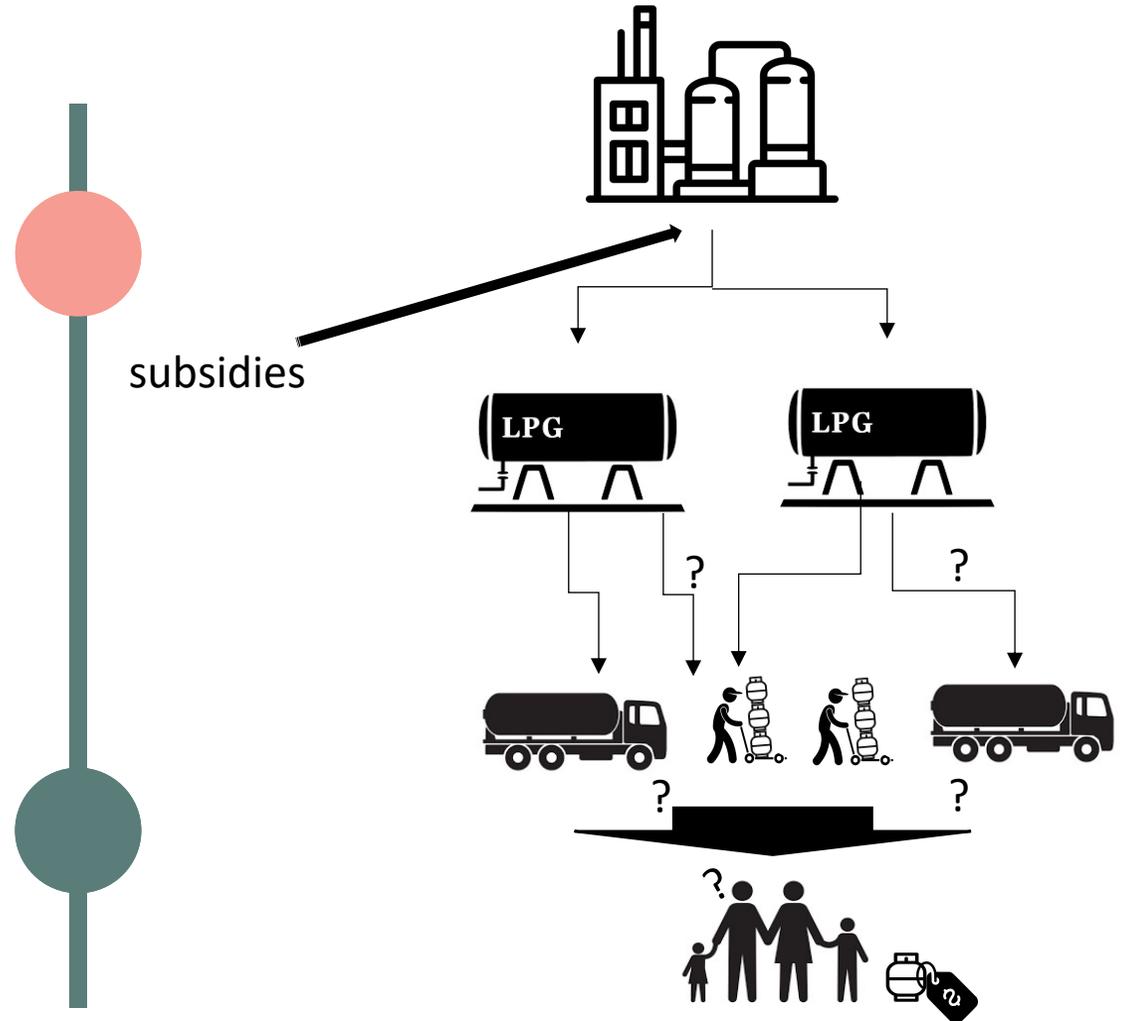

TCU recommended that cost-benefit analyzes should be carried out for the regulatory alternatives

ANP

Has no means of knowing if the subsidies reach the end consumer

TCU – Issued a determination for ANP, CNPE and MME to conduct studies to quantify the effects of the policy on the consumer price

LPG Inspections carried out by non-ANP agents

- Lack criterion
- Lack transparency
- Lack regulatory support

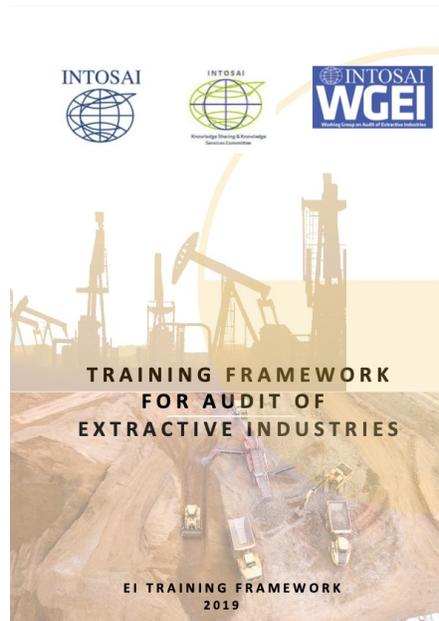

Different sanctions for the same problems depending on who conducted the inspection

ANP conducting studies for new rules for distribution and resale of LPG

TCU recommended that ANP prepares specific manuals for LPG as soon as new LPG rules are enacted

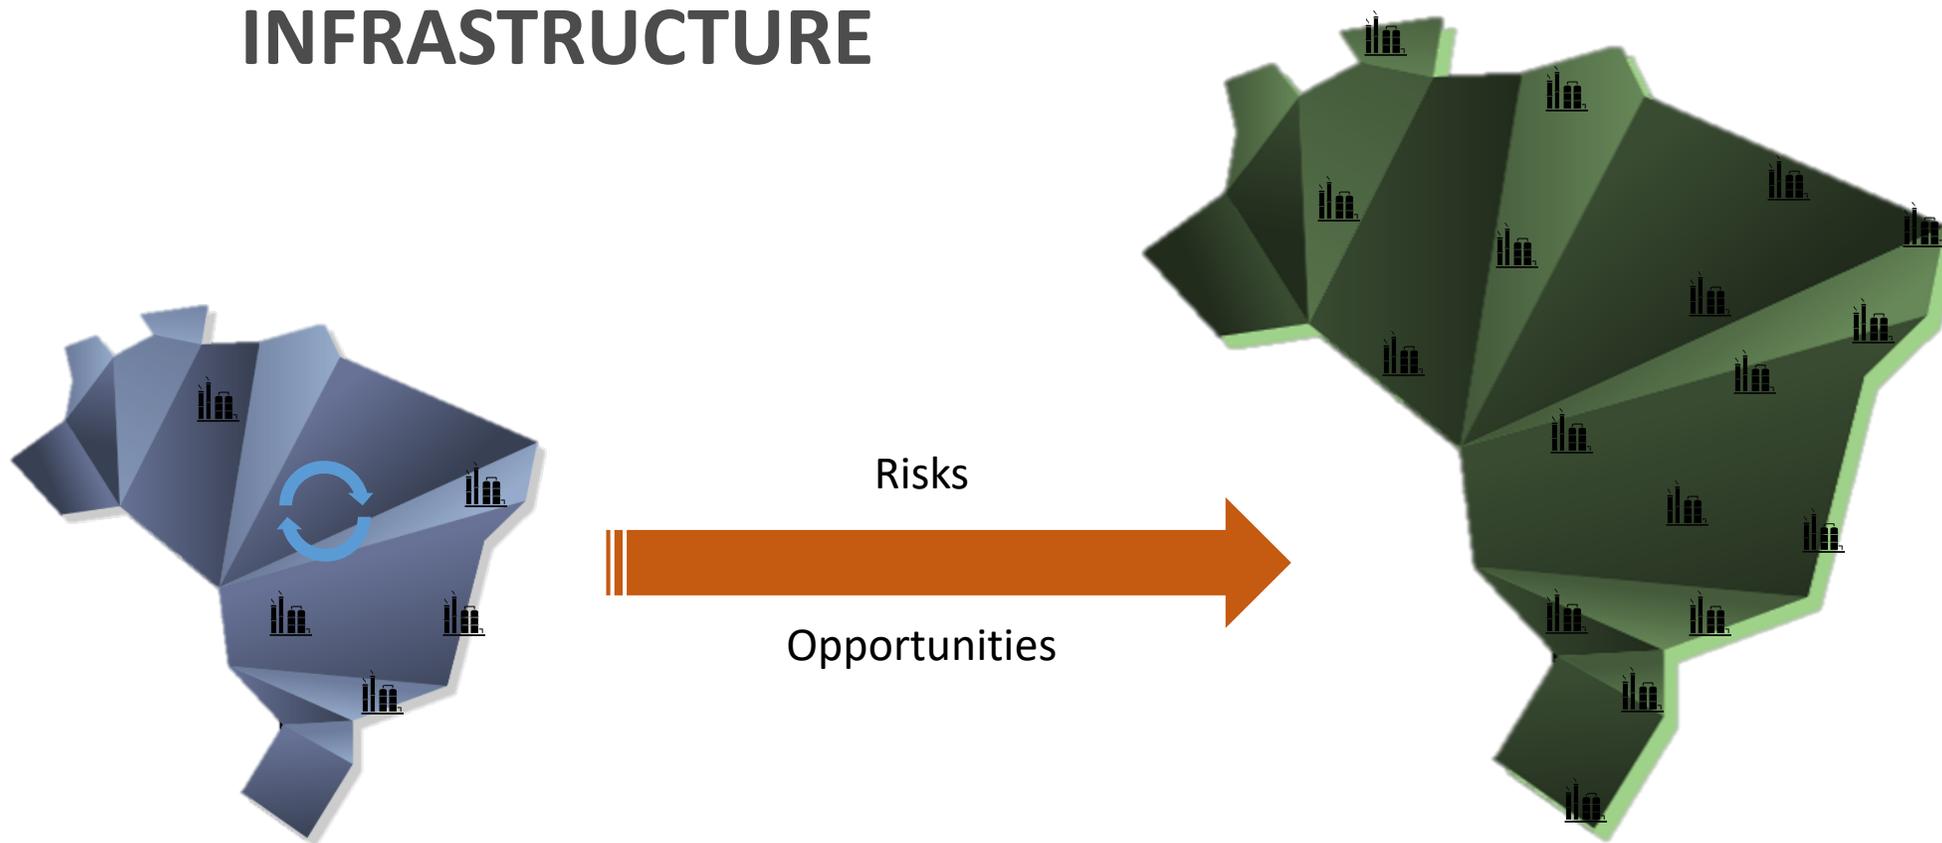

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL CONTROL - OIL AND GAS INFRASTRUCTURE NEW REFINING MARKET

Extractive industries, when managed prudently, can generate sustainable development and make a lasting positive impact on the life of citizens. However, without proper monitoring and evaluation policies, the same investments have the potential to destabilize public financial management systems. They can also lead to negative environmental and social impacts and increase the risk of corruption in the value chain.

NEW REFINING MARKET

Supply Brazil Initiative

NEW REFINING MARKET PUBLIC POLICY

Coordinate efforts to ensure a competitive market

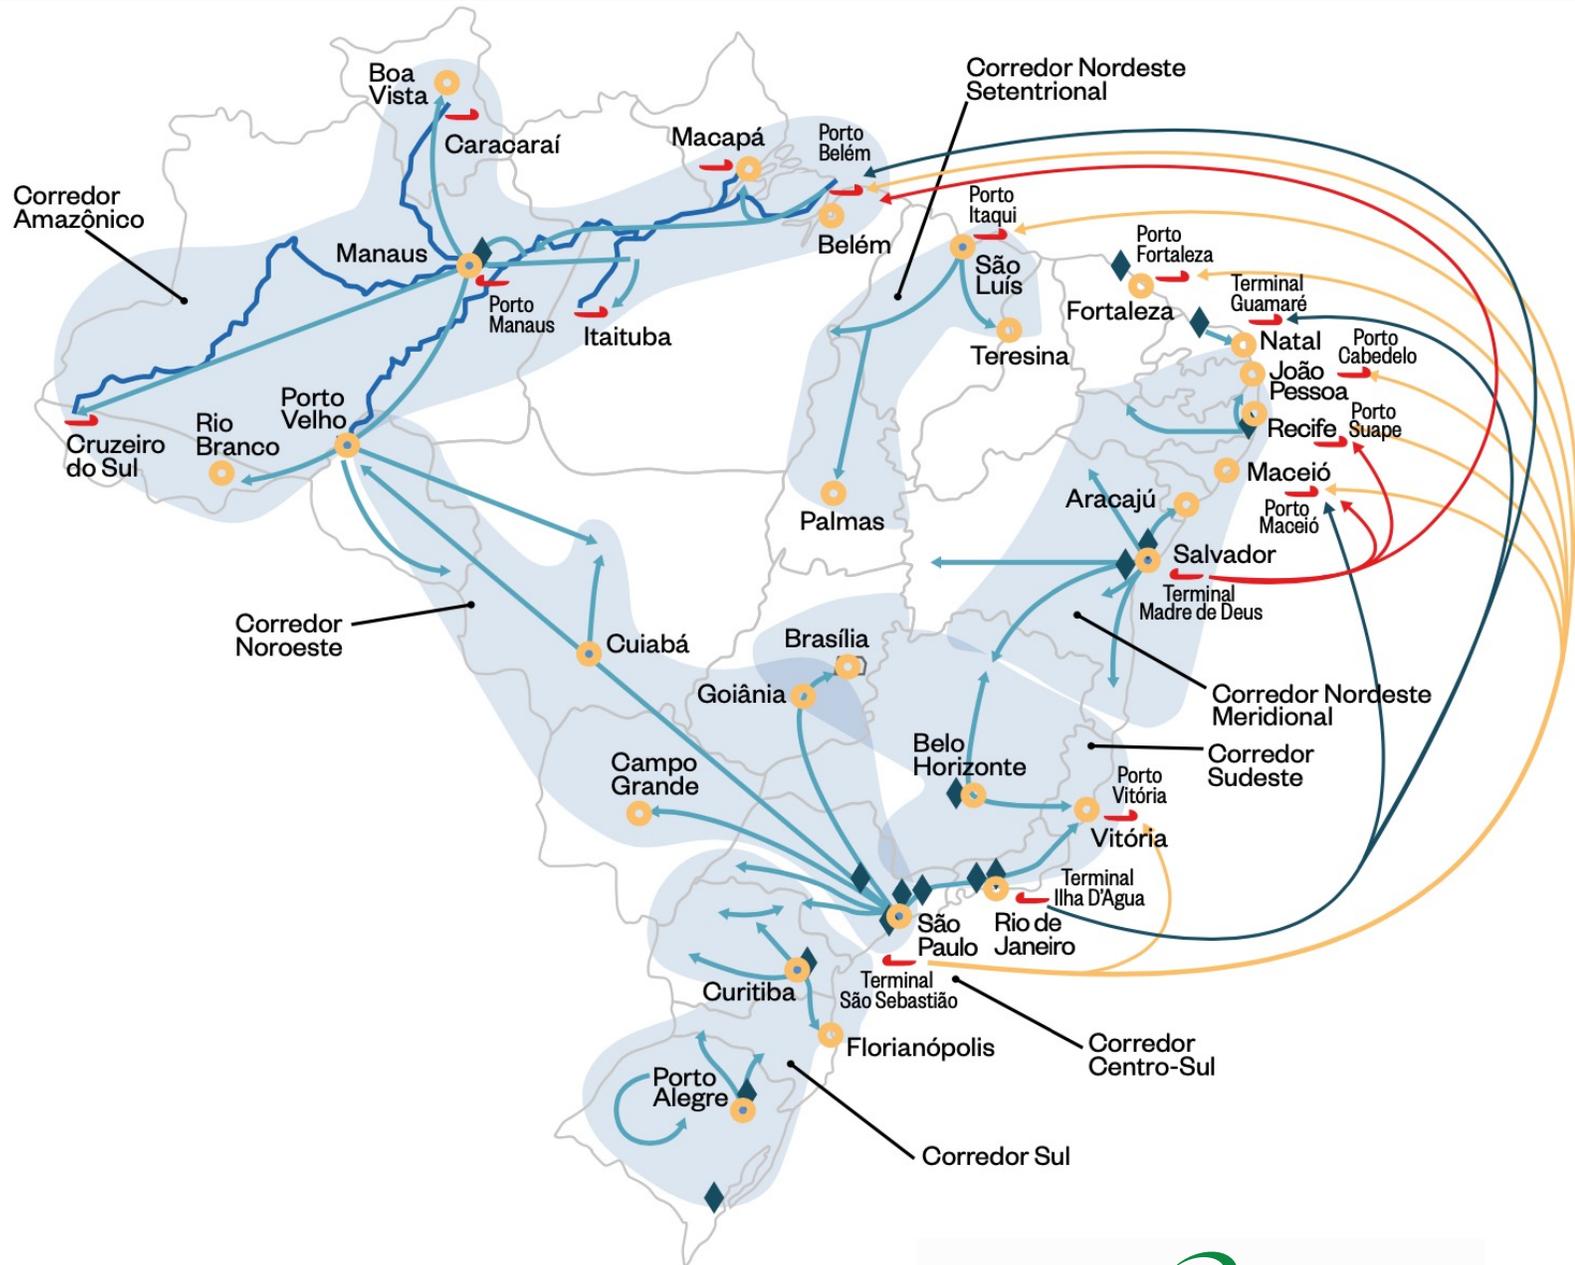

- Redesign fuel supply market
- Essential structures access rules
- New investments in refining
- Stimulate competitiveness

- Infrastructure Bottlenecks
- Economic Regulation
- Regulatory framework

Infrastructure Bottlenecks

Impact market transition

Risks of shortage:

- Low risk of shortage for liquid fuels
- High risk of shortage for LPG

Government energy plan lacks infrastructure studies

AUDIT FINDINGS

Regulatory Risks

Ensure supply and promote competitiveness

Risks of discriminatory third-party access

No means for reducing market volatility

LPG minimum storage regulatory gap

Audit Results

- Agencies agreed with findings
- Committed to conduct studies addressing the risks
- Audit fulfilled its objectives in the course of the control action
- Anti-trust agency opened an investigation
